INTRODUCTION

Dear Visitors,

Welcome to Newport Pagnell and Olney Model Railway Club's (NPOMRC) 2026 Model Railway Exhibition and thank you one and all for taking the time to join us today. Thank you as well, to Olney Town Council for allowing us to hold the event here in what is our second year at this new venue, also to the exhibitors, traders and to everyone else who helped make today possible, with special thanks to Simon and Malcolm who pulled it all together.

I hope you find the variety of what we have arranged for you to see here today enjoyable, interesting and perhaps inspiring. Enjoy your visit, and happy railway modelling!

Kind regards

David Morris

STAND 5 – MICK FRENCH BOOKS

Mick has an extensive range of new and second hand books, suitable for both enthusiasts and modellers alike.

STAND 6 – BEAR CREEK (N) -

This layout was inspired by a holiday to British Columbia in the early 2000's and an article in "Model Railway Magazine" entitled 'Top Shelf Feeds' by Chris Leigh. It is a fictitious slice of western Canada which is an attempt to capture the main elements of the area, namely mountainous scenery and fir trees! Freight movement is the focus of train operations and the simple track plan is taken from the above mentioned magazine article.

STAND 7 – BOSSINEY (OO) - CHRIS TOYER

Located on a Cornish peninsula post W-W2, Bossiney was once a strategic look - out post and anti aircraft gun emplacement, now disused, but still facilitating railway storage and stabling.

STAND 11 – SMALL BRIDGE JUNCTION (OO9) -DALE GILLARD

This is an imaginary small junction connecting the branch line to a Wood Warehouse. The station today is hosting a 'Mini Owners Club' meeting in the car park. All the track and points are Peco, locos are mainly kit built, Minitrains and Bachmann.

STAND 12 – BRUNSWICK EAST(OO) - LES PACE

Loosely based on part of the Brunswick shed complex in Liverpool, being inspired by a design by the late Ian Rice. Set in the 1960's and is modelled in the late evening using layout lighting.

STAND 13 – LYNCH CUTTING (OO) - DAVE CROFT

Lynch Cutting depicts a fictitious backwater defunct diesel maintenance depot acquired by Heritage volunteers to keep alive various locomotives and road transport vehicles from the 1960s 70s and early 80s. Nothing too prototypical, but based on memories from my mind's eye of those years...

STAND 14 – CONSOLIDATED WAREHOUSING (O) - DAVE TAILBY

An O Gauge mirco layout consisting of 2 sidings serving a smallish warehousing company. Operation is simple - its just shunting wagaons in and out of the warehouse.

Room 4

STAND 15 – DAI SYFIELD YARD (OO) - JACK PALLISTER

A small, fictional shunting servicing area, hosting a variety of modern era 11 diesel locomotives and wagons.

STAND 16 – WELLINGBOROUGH MODELS - JULIAN FRANKS

A range of modelling accessories to enable your layout to be completed.

STAND 17 – GIFFARD LANE (OO) - DANIEL DEATHE MKMRS

A small layout of a prototypical refuelling point for diesel traction. There are two stabling points for locomotives to be stabled between duties. The two stabling points are also electrified to allow overhead traction to be stabled on them between duties too. Giffard Lane is a fictional location in the north west of England just off the West Coast Mainline. Giffard Lane is DCC controlled with almost all locos being fitted with sound to bring the layout to life. We operate the layout with a Z21 DCC system and use our mobiles as controllers via the Z21 app, also on the layout we have Mr Bean with his teddy standing by his car and if you look closely on Giffard Lane you might spot Where's Wally hiding!
